Jobless

Throughout New Zealand, thousands of unvaccinated kiwis are losing their employment because of the “no jab no job” policies – and it’s not just our valued teachers, nurses and prison officers. We’ve personally received hundreds of messages from distraught kiwis losing their jobs due to the mandates. Here’s just some of the careers being lost:

Truck drivers
Drainlayers
Horse eventers
Arborists
Tennis coaches
Scrap yard workers
University staff
Doctoral students
Courier drivers
Workers at vineyards
Social workers
Apprentice electricians
Bus drivers
Construction workers
Automotive painters
Volunteer firefighters
Office administrators
After-hours cleaners
Ecologists

Mechanical engineers
Fruit pickers
Apprentice plumbers
Business intelligence analysts
Grounds maintenance workers
Automotive mechanics
Structural architects
Aircraft engineers
Gardeners
Volunteer driving instructors
Road maintenance workers
After-hours security guards
Student farm-workers
Gasfitters
Fitness instructors
Race horse trainers
Table tennis coaches
Event hire operators
Swimming pool lifeguards

The 87,269-strong petition “Don’t Divide Us”, launched in November, was tabled in Parliament last week and says “We oppose the ‘no jab no job’ policy, which will create a divided New Zealand. We call on the Government to allow the use of COVID rapid antigen testing as an alternative for unvaccinated kiwis to access workplaces, schools, marae, large gatherings, and places of worship.”

Nationwide polling found a majority of kiwis support testing to be allowed as an option, so that kiwis can keep their jobs. So let’s get the country united and working together again, as we battle the challenges of COVID-19.
